Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Friday 03 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Windy and showery on Saturday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Dry start this evening with clear periods. Then clouding over with showers or longer spells of rain spreading from the west overnight, rain occasionally heavy with snow on the hills. Strengthening west or northwesterly winds. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Saturday:
Cloudy at first with rain and hill snow, some heavy, then brightening up with sunny intervals and occasional showers. Strong northwest winds, with coastal gales, gradually easing. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
An early shower in the north on Sunday, otherwise dry, sunny and cold. Overnight rain on both Monday and Tuesday otherwise bright with showers. Gales, possibly severe, on Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.